The Festival at the National Orange Show Hosts over 1,200 Guests Living with Intellectual and Physical Disabilities

San Bernardino, Calif., May 28, 2010- GCF Events in collaboration with Ray Cammack Shows opened the National Orange Show Fairgrounds early Friday morning for two hours of exclusive use of the grounds by over 1,200 children and adults living with intellectual and physical disabilities. The program, called “Sunshine Day”, included a hosted lunch, strolling attractions, the circus, and limited carnival rides and attractions.

Rosalind Carreras, an instructor with the Riverside County Department of Education attended with Natalie Green, a student from Banning High School. Carreras has participated in Sunshine Day for the past 2 years. “This is really neat,” she commented. “A couple of years ago we came and it was raining, but today it is perfect.”

Sunshine Day, an annual part of the festival since the 90s, is open to groups who registered for the event early in May.

The festival at the National Orange Show runs through Memorial Day with safe and clean fun for the entire family. Admission is $5; children 12 and under are Free. Unlimited ride wristbands are only $12. Gates open at 12 p.m. Saturday through Monday.
